

Chapter 7 — Classroom Management and SEL

25 prompts

Most behaviour problems are routine problems wearing a disguise. These prompts work on the structures — how a transition runs, what you say in the first ten seconds, how a conversation gets repaired afterwards — rather than on the student.

What's in here

Group	Prompts	Use when
Routines and transitions	6	The same four minutes lost, every day
Behaviour reset support	5	It went wrong; you want it back
Restorative conversations	4	Repair, not punishment
Social-emotional learning	4	Building it into normal lessons
Morning meetings	3	Openings that a shy student can join
Seating and grouping	3	Who sits where, on purpose

Worth knowing before you start

This chapter has the firmest limit in the book. If a situation involves harm, abuse or immediate danger, stop and follow your school's safeguarding procedure.

Do not work it through with an AI tool.

Focus on the behaviour and the repair. Nothing here should produce a judgement about a child's character, home life or motivation.

A restorative conversation is not a forced apology. If the draft demands one, change it — several prompts here rule it out explicitly.

Keep in-the-moment scripts under fifteen words. Anything longer becomes an audience.

CM-001 · Design and teach a classroom routine

All grades · Any subject

Handle with care. Read the safety page before using this one.

WHEN YOU NEED THIS

A recurring transition is costing time or creating confusion.

COPY FROM HERE

Design and teach a classroom routine.

Required inputs:

- [GRADE_SUBJECT: exact age/grade and subject]
- [GOAL: the learning or communication purpose]
- [ROUTINE_GOAL: supply verified information; do not leave blank]
- [ROOM_CONSTRAINTS: supply verified information; do not leave blank]
- [CONSTRAINTS: duration, format, resources and approved access requirements; write none only if confirmed]

Specific requirements:

Write teach, model, rehearse and feedback steps with observable success. Include accessible cues and realistic movement time.

Output:

Return the named artifact with all questions, directions, examples or text needed for the task; put teacher keys and notes separately from student/family-facing text.

TO HERE

BEFORE YOU SEND IT

- Factual claims trace to supplied evidence; proposals and unknowns are labelled.
- Answers and subject content checked independently; access and local policy preserved.
- No identifying or sensitive records were shared; final recipient/content checked locally.

Example — an editorial illustration, not a logged AI run

Model: when the cue appears, stand safely, collect the assigned pencil, walk to your table and begin the drawn starter. Rehearse once without timing, then observe a second attempt. Give descriptive feedback about safe movement and readiness. Adjust the 90-second target if access or room conditions require it. Do not penalize a learner for needing an accessible route.

CM-002 · Prepare a restorative conversation

WHEN YOU NEED THIS

A classroom harm needs acknowledgment, repair and reintegration.

- [LOW_STAKES_EVENT: supply verified information; do not leave blank]
- [VOLUNTARY_PARTICIPATION: supply verified information; do not leave blank]
- [CONSTRAINTS: duration, format, resources and approved access requirements; write none only if confirmed]

Specific requirements:

Prepare neutral restorative questions without forced apology or disclosure. Defer harm, abuse or immediate danger to local safeguarding procedures.

Output:

Return the named artifact with all questions, directions, examples or text needed for the task; put teacher keys and notes separately from student/family-facing text.

- Factual claims trace to supplied evidence; proposals and unknowns are labelled.
- Answers and subject content checked independently; access and local policy preserved.
- No identifying or sensitive records were shared; final recipient/content checked locally.

Example — an editorial illustration, not a logged AI run

Opening: We can talk about what happened and what might help next time. You may ask for a pause. Questions: What did you observe? What was the impact? What would a fair next step look like? Record proposed actions separately from agreed actions. Do not require an apology, infer guilt or use this process for an unresolved safeguarding concern.

Greet learners, point to the visual starter and direct them to collect a pencil if needed. First task: write one thing remembered from yesterday's lesson. Late-entry route: collect materials quietly and begin without a public explanation. Teacher checks whether the routine gives all learners access; it is not a timed compliance contest.

Script: Look at the task card. Take your pencil, move safely to your place and start question one. If you are unsure, mark a question sign and I will check in. Rehearse the movement and materials steps separately if needed. Success evidence: learners know the first action and can begin with appropriate support, not absolute silence alone.

Keep personal responsibility distinct from a punitive class reward system.
